PASTOR'S CORNER

HOSPITALITY: OPEN HANDS, OPEN HEARTS, OPEN DOORS

None of us deny that it's easier to share hospitality with family and friends than with the stranger on the street. But the New Testament teaches us that Christianity is the religion of open hands, open hearts and open doors. When we open our hearts as well as our homes, we're practicing Christian hospitality. While the art of hospitality may come easy for some, it may be quite difficult for others. After all, it's not always easy to give of yourself, much less your hard-earned gains. And like most things in life, hospitality isn't done perfectly the first time. But don't stop trying. When we do it over and over, it truly becomes a comfortable part of our nature. It's all in perspective.

Many people choose to focus on what they don't have instead of focusing on sharing the blessings of God. So give it a try. Somewhere along the way, you'll realize that people are not in your home for the unlimited entertaining budget. Rather, they sense loving-kindness and genuine concern. That's the moment when your home becomes a sanctuary for those God sends your way.

Changing Your Corner of the World with Hospitality: Just think: if Christians would practice true hospitality, we could play a significant part in changing our corner of the world. After all, we are living miracles and have so much to share. The bottom line is that God can use people like you and me to touch lives. It doesn't matter if we rent or own a house or an apartment; our homes are an extension of ourselves. When we practice hospitality, we have the opportunity to touch lives in an intimate, personal way.

Be bold: God has not only given you the roof over your head, but also will give you the love and wisdom needed to open your home to others. With a little planning and preparation—and a good measure of prayer—you can be prepared to share your home with friends, neighbors and even the strangers God may send your way.

REFLECTION FOR THE 13TH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

When we were baptized, we were baptized into Christ's death. Take a moment to ponder these profound words. We were baptized into death. In every sense of the word, we are asked to die. This is not just about our final death but about daily deaths due to inconvenience, discomfort, pain, loss, or others' needs. This is an incredible epiphany given the way we very often approach our lives. We do everything to avoid death, let alone encounter it! Many avoid pain, discomfort, inconvenience, uneasiness, change, interference, and suffering of any kind. We put a lot of energy into finding the easiest and least inconvenient way through many things. Even holding the door open for a stranger or saying hello to someone in the store can be major undertakings.

We are called to die. One of the biggest wake-up calls we can have is realizing that life is not about us! There are millions of other people sharing life on this planet with whom I have a relationship. Does my life celebrate those relationships? The most distracting question we can ask is, "What do I want to do?" The more focused, faith-filled question is, "What do I need to do?" What I need to do may not be what I want to do. However, asking this question more frequently will teach us how to more purposefully and intentionally live so we can be a life giving vessel for others. When we learn to live more sacrificially, to put the needs of others before our own, and to not always seek our own self-interest, we become aware of what baptism into Christ's death is really all about. These are the roots of virtue and the seedbed for justice, tolerance, solidarity, love, and peace.

Learning how to accept all the "small deaths" and sacrifices life calls us to teaches us how to approach our final death. All deaths ask us to empty ourselves into something or someone else. Whether we empty ourselves into the heart and soul of another human being or empty ourselves into God at the moment of our final death, new life is always received and nurtured. A heart that exclusively seeks its own interest is a heart that is closed to love. A heart that pours itself out to others and is content with being emptied is a heart that has been touched by and open to mercy. It is a heart that overflows with joy.

JULY 2ND VIRTUAL ACTION 6:45PM-8PM ORGANIZING FOR A BELOVED DC 500-1000 PEOPLE

STRONG: Even if we can't be in the same room during the pandemic, we can still stand united and strong to make our demands for racial equity and economic justice a reality in the District of Columbia. WIN developed a proposed Budget for a Beloved DC. We propose the DC Council redirect $300 million in public funds from gentrification projects, corporate subsidies and the police department (DC has more police per capita in the country). We demand the Council reinvest the $300 million into affordable housing, good paying jobs, health and community based violence prevention programs. You can read more about the budget demands here: windc-iaf.org/2021budget. On July 2nd we seek to show unity, presence and power so that elected officials and corporate leaders hear the demands of the people. July 2nd we will organize for this budget, and also build power to reimagine the future of the District of Columbia for the months and years to come. Can we count on you to be one in the numbers to build a beloved DC? RSVP for July 2nd now. Call parish office for details or go to <https://www.windc-iaf.org/> to register.
